“Sanctify your life and share that light in our world.”
—Yogacharya O’Brian

Dear Friend,

Earlier this year Yogacharya shared this teaching about “sanctifying our life” and I thought, Engaged Enlightenment—keep the light on, first within and then in our world. In the highest way, this is what we are all called to do, and what the CSE ministry has been committed to since our inception.

This led me to reflect on how the life-transforming teachings of Kriya Yoga have been passed through the generations like a light of hope—and how those who came to the Center before me kept the light on by establishing and sustaining this place that we call CSE—our spiritual home. It called me to think about my own responsibility to keep the light on by remaining steadfast and optimistic, even during challenging times. My way of doing this is to follow the teachings, be grateful, and to contribute what I can, when I can.

Thank you for all that you contribute throughout the year to support the ministry. Your presence, service, and financial support are greatly appreciated. Your participation now in our annual Year End Support (YES) campaign as an act of engaged enlightenment allows us to keep the light on for those who reach out to us. Realizing our $50k goal for year-end gifts is essential for funding vital programs that support spiritual awakening for thousands of people and inspire positive change in our world. Kindly use the enclosed envelope to offer your gift.

I look forward to connecting with you this season—either in person at CSE or through our online programs.

With abundant love and all blessings,

Rev. Sundari Jensen
